

Travel Frequently.....this isn't a bad idea as long as there are restrictions on the times that you can use. It is important that I get sleep on overnight flights. With people yapping in their cell phones the entire flight, sleeping may become harder than it is already. Restrict calls to an hour or so before landing, so that you can confirm airport transportation, etc.